Turtles are by far the best pets.
A jar of Nutella sells every 2.5 seconds on average.
Baking soda and baking powder are different.
Movie popcorn is my favorite popcorn.
The Walking Dead premiered in 2010.
Small talk is really awkward.
The brown bear is Finland’s national animal.
The Chernobyl nuclear disaster occurred in 1986.
The worst part of the meal is cleaning up at the end.
Alaska is the largest U.S. state by land area.
The highest point in Georgia is Brasstown Bald, at 4,784 feet above sea level.
Kimchi chips are way too spicy.
Winter is the best season.
Beets are an excellent source of vitamins A and K; unfortunately, they are gross.
Sonia Sotomayor has served on the U.S. Supreme Court since 2009.
The best sport of all time (football) starts its season in the fall.
STEM represents science, technology, engineering, and mathematics; they are my favorite tasks!
Georgia became a state in 1788; it was the fourth state to join the U.S.
Georgia produces 2.6 million bushels of peaches every year.
Those who live in Georgia seem to smile more on a daily basis; it must be because they are so polite.
Napolean was once swarmed by so many rabbits during a hunting trip that he was trapped inside his coach.
Artificial intelligence will cause the end of humankind.
The highest temp 134.1° F in Death Valley, California.
Return of the Jedi is the best Star Wars movie.
Mornings are the worst.
A group of crows is called a murder.
The "sixth sick sheik's sixth sheep's sick" is the toughest tongue twister in the English language.

My ELA teacher is my favorite teacher.